| All           | • There is an on-going Equality and Diversity Training programme. (Staff who are on interview panels must access this training before recruiting staff).
• Staff can simplify terms and can draw diagrams to assist patient’s, and families understanding.
• Where possible staff will try to accommodate parents who want to stay with their child. Ronald MacDonald House provides free accommodation for the families of long term critically ill patients at the Royal Hospital for Sick Children. (However, demand for this service exceeds supply).
• Outwith term time, university flats can be used to accommodate parents.
• There is open visiting for the patient’s parents.
• There is a Family Information Service located in the main entrance of the hospital, which families can access.
| • Staff highlighted that the on-line equality and diversity training programme was difficult to pass.
• There can be difficulties in finding the different departments i.e. signposting poor.
• One of the issues raised was the cancellation of operations (i.e. if another emergency comes up), at short notice and the need to clearly explain the reason for this.
• One of the issues raised was that there was no room allocated to meet distressed parents who might not want to come back to the ward if they have to collect anything. |
| Gender        | • Gender is recorded in the patient information database. and as part of Heart Suite (a database used throughout the UK designed specifically for Cardiac Services which is used for clinical audit, research and waiting times).
• When possible staff would try to accommodate request for same sex health professionals. Chaperoning is also available.
• The outpatient areas have individual rooms, which all have curtains to maintain privacy.
• No issues were identified for transgender parents or relatives.
| • No negative impact identified. |
| Ethnicity     | • Staff are aware of how to access foreign language interpreters and have access to the interpreting resources.
• Some analysis has taken place regarding language
| • Ethnicity data is not always recorded or analysed.
• Yorkhill’s patient information booklet is not available in other languages. (This booklet requirements at Yorkhill Hospital. (For the site rather than service based).
- The Children’s Heart Book is available in other languages.
- Staff are aware of cultural issues e.g. some cultures may not question the doctor but will be accepting.
- Interpreters are booked for families who are asylum seekers. There can be instances of the family failing to attend appointments. This impacts on the service provided as families are not realising that the child needs to be treated as soon as possible.

does say if you want the information in another language to speak to a member of staff).
- There can be issues communicating with patient’s families over the telephone if English is not their first language.

|            | Staff are aware of Text Relay (a service which can be used to communicate with people who are deaf). |
|            | For patients or parents with learning disabilities, staff would discuss with their carers and, or advocates about the best way to communicate. |
|            | If a patient had a disability, then this would be documented in the case notes. |
|            | Staff were unsure of where the accessible toilets were located. |
|            | The chairs in the waiting areas are a standard size and are compliant with infection control. |

| Age (Children/Young People/Older People)

- Patients who meet the criteria can reclaim their travelling expenses at the cash office.
- The service can signpost patient’s families to Social Work Department.
- Outreach clinics throughout Scotland reduce the amount of time and expense involved for families. However, specialised tests or in-patient services require travel to Glasgow. |
| Additional marginalisation
- The service can accommodate the parents of patients who are on remand and there is a policy in place to deal with this situation. |
| No negative impact identified.
- Examples were given of when patient’s families couldn’t access the cash office out of hours. Petty cash is available out of hours, although this is a limited amount.
- There were issues of families turning up for appointments and not having any money to return home. |
