Get Involved

Here are some upcoming events that will give families, children and young people a chance to influence the plans. Contact Kate if you would like to take part or for more details.

- Members of the Youth Panel are surveying other young people about age appropriate care - would you like a survey form or maybe you’d like to train as an interviewer
- We need volunteers to help pilot a new medical history taking questionnaire - you would work through the questionnaire with a clinician and then give them feedback on how helpful you think it is
- Proposals to establish a Pre-admission Service and a 23-hour Surgical Admission Unit have been developed, would you like to comment on them - send us your details and we’ll send you a survey form
- What is it like travelling on public transport with children, we particularly want to hear from you if you travel to Yorkhill from outside Glasgow - send us your stories
- PAMIS are hosting a meeting for us for families with children with complex needs on May 16th
- The architects will need your help when looking at areas like the wards, family facilities, the main entrance and A&E - if you would like to meet with them then contact Kate

Keep watching these newsletters and the web for details of other engagement events.

If you missed Professor Pat McKeever when she visited Glasgow last year we have good news! Pat has been invited to speak at a conference on the arts and medical humanities. She’ll be running a seminar for the new children’s hospital on the 9th of July so contact Kate if you would like to attend.

NHS Greater Glasgow and Clyde welcomes the announcement from the Scottish Government on funding approval for the building of the New Children’s Hospital. Andrew Robertson, Chairman of NHS Greater Glasgow and Clyde, said: “The Scottish Government’s approval of the Outline Business Case for the new South Glasgow Hospitals Campus is truly historic for the NHS in Scotland. Our proposals for the new campus represent the largest investment in health services ever undertaken in Scotland.”

“A huge amount of detailed and expert work has gone into getting us to this pivotal stage in achieving our vision for the Southern campus. I would like to pay tribute to all involved and also, as we go forward in developing the Full Business Case, hope that families, children and young people will continue to work closely with us to make sure the new hospital reflects their hopes and aspirations.”

Investing in our children’s future

The redevelopment of the Southern General site is not only an investment in modern healthcare facilities, it also represents an investment in the future. The proposal for the new health campus represents the largest investment in health services ever undertaken in Scotland. The new adult and children’s hospitals and maternity unit, together with a new laboratory facility will see Glasgow become home to the largest, most advanced single NHS development in the country.

NHS Greater Glasgow and Clyde looks forward to working in partnership with families, children and young people to make this an investment in all our futures.

New Children’s Hospital
By 2012, the New Children’s Hospital will provide 240 beds offering A&E services and the full range of in-patient and day case paediatric services - for Glasgow, the West of Scotland and nationally.

Families, children and young people are integral to the design of the new hospital. They are working with the architects and planners to make sure that their needs are central to the plans.

New Adult Hospital
The new Adult Hospital will consist of 1109 beds, providing the full range of acute adult care for South and West Glasgow, all in single rooms with en-suite facilities. The new build is due for completion in 2014.

The renowned Spinal Injuries and Neurosciences Units will be retained on site.
