Chair's overview of the past year:

CHAIRMAN'S REPORT FOR WEST ETHICS COMMITTEE 1.

The past year has proved interesting and challenging for your Research Ethics Committee. The work of West Ethics 1 has continued as before with increasingly complex submissions which reflect the clinical trials remit that this committee has. One might think that clinical trials restrict the committee to dealing with submissions relating to drug development but it is increasingly clear that social science research is funded to a generous degree and I think all committee members are grateful for the insights that researchers have given us in respect of community based research in what can be difficult areas, but often concerning issues about which we hear plenty in current affairs presentations in the media.

Organisationally we are facing challenging times. The thrust of the presentation on those who oversee our work from the National Patients Safety Agency was "regionalisation and harmonisation" this year. We have seen the West of Scotland Research Ethics Service Planning Group formed and this, one hopes, will address the issues of regionalisation. As many of the submissions to West Ethics 1 come from outwith our own region I suspect the conclusions of the group will not impact substantially on the work of West Ethics 1. Harmonisation is a different issue that there is clearly a need to identify what is a reasonable degree of recompense to participants in clinical research and also to clarify issues with respect to research involving health care professionals and their working practices. I'm sure there are other issues that I have omitted to mention in this area but we have, in parallel with the Planning Group, established a meeting of representatives of the West of Scotland Research Ethics Committees that should help us to discuss area of doubt in a constructive way.

Despite the areas of doubt I am pleased to report there are very few complaints. There is little doubt that researchers would like their projects considered faster but the delays are substantially less than one saw before institution of the current system of assessment. However, the pressures mean that every committee member has to evaluate submissions carefully before the meetings themselves.

On this basis the preparation by our Ethics Manager Andrea Torrie and Administrative Assistant Sharon Jenner are invaluable, and I consider myself one of the most fortunate of Research Ethics Chairs in having their vast experience and wisdom backing me up.

I am also indebted to the hard work put in by my committee members, all of whom bring their own skills and particular interests to the committee. I am sure they feel daunted on a monthly basis as the pile of papers for ethics meetings arrives. It seems to get thicker every month!

Finally, we hope we have served the research community and that our actions will allow productive research to help the community at large.

Chair's overview of the past year:

Chairpersons Overview of the Past Year

The purpose of the West Glasgow Ethics Committee is to look at submissions by the medical and pharmaceutical profession in order to recommend/reject studies involving specifically targeted patients.

The ultimate aim of each project is to benefit patient care and therefore all Ethics Committees play a very important part of how healthcare is designed and delivered for the future.

To reach our goal with every application, a great deal of time and effort is given by a number of very enthusiastic and dedicated individuals. Thankfully 2006/7 was no different from previous years and the attendance at all of our gatherings was very high. We studied a large number of submissions and without the support of all members of the committee it would have been extremely difficult to achieve what we did.

For that I would like to thank each and every one of our members of the group and hopefully your combined effort will continue in 2007/8.

Finally, without the highly efficient and professional standards of our administration backup then I think we would all agree that things may not have gone as smoothly as they did. A big thank you – you know who you are!

Chair's overview of the past year:

In July 2006 South Glasgow LREC merged with Argyll and Clyde LREC to form South Glasgow and Clyde REC.

Take-overs and mergers often generate a degree of disquiet. Our merger, however, took place without stress and, in October 2006, three former members of A&C LREC joined the merged Committee increasing the membership from 15 to 18 members.

Between July 2006 and 31st March 2007 there were seven full meetings and two Sub-Committee meetings with an average attendance of members of 62%.

The Committee works well together and early questions relating to the workload and the Agenda were satisfactorily resolved. It is a mature and dedicated Committee whose members are serious in their preparation and painstaking in their discussions.

I look forward to a year of robust discussion and measured, responsible, conclusions.

Chair's overview of the past year:

This could be considered more an obituary than a report since, with the demise of our parent Health Board on 17th July 2007, our responsibilities were absorbed into the new South Glasgow & Clyde REC based in the Southern General Hospital, Glasgow.

During our last three and a half months of wind down, we functioned as a sub-committee of three, with 4 meetings in that time dealing with 13 Site Specific Assessments. I would particularly wish to record my high respect and regard for the commitment, knowledge and dedication of my Committee and of our Co-ordinator, Evelyn Jackson. I consider it a privilege to have worked with them in service to Argyll and Clyde over the previous 6 years.

Of the several A&C Committee Members willing to remain involved in this rewarding work, myself and 2 others have been enlisted into the new SG & C REC thereby ensuring our local expertise and knowledge are available to the new Area Committee.

Dr. Robert Brown
Chairman Argyll and Clyde LREC

Chair's overview of the past year:

Yet again, this year has been an eventful one. Due to the falling number of submissions, a review in 2006 concluded that two Committees at GRI was no longer necessary. Therefore, in June 2006 it was agreed to amalgamate REC/1 and REC/2 into one but larger Committee, with a maximum of 18 members.

Applications continue to be wide-ranging and from many different areas, and it is interesting that the majority of submissions are from faculty and students of the three Universities in Glasgow. From October 2006, the REC at GRI was approved by COREC to review Research Tissue Bank applications.

With yet another version of the COREC form in circulation, along with the many, very detailed Standard Operating Procedures to digest, I am grateful for the guidance, expertise and administrative support provided by Sharon Macgregor and Rose Gallacher.

I would also like to take this opportunity to thank all the members of the Committee who freely give their invaluable time and expertise in order to provide an independent opinion on research within the NHS. Without their efforts and commitment, this service could not be provided. Special thanks are due to Sandy Weatherhead who served as a lay member on the Committee for over 7 years until he retired in May 2006.

The year ahead is also bound to be eventful with the decision of SEAG (Scottish Ethics Advisory Group) to create a Research Ethics Service managed from the four main research areas in Scotland (Glasgow, Lothian, Grampian and Tayside). The Service managed in Glasgow will be called the West of Scotland Research Ethics Service and the Health Boards involved are currently in discussions to decide the finer details of the service. We wait in anticipation.
