NHSGGC Reservist staff

NHSGGC greatly values the contribution of the Reserve Forces, not only in serving our country, but also because of their commitment to the NHS in Scotland. We recognise that the regular training undertaken by the Reserve Forces enhances and develops the skills and knowledge of our employees and that this is of long term benefit to our organisation.

Working with colleagues across Scotland, including SaBRE (Supporting Britain's Reservists and Employers), NHSGGC continues to offer appropriate levels of support during training and in the event of mobilisation. To ensure this happens, we are refreshing our Reserve Forces Training and Mobilisation Policy; ensuring this is as up to date as possible with the information both Reservist staff and their line managers need to know.

To acknowledge the significant contribution of our Reservist staff, an evening reception at the Queen Elizabeth Teaching and Learning Centre will be held tonight (23 November). Chairman Andrew Robertson, a longstanding supporter of our Reservist staff, will give a few words of thanks.

If you are a staff member within the Reserve Forces, and you want to find out more about the support we offer, please ensure you are registered with the board contact who will be able to answer any questions you may have, email: diana.hudson@ggc.scot.nhs.uk

We are consulting on a dementia strategy for Glasgow City and would like you to be involved.

This strategy is being developed by the Health and Social Care Partnership and Alzheimer Scotland. We feel in our communities and working lives everyone has a responsibility for dementia and through our communities we can all help create an environment that is inclusive and supportive of people affected by dementia.

The views of all citizens in Glasgow are important to us. This is why we would like to ask you to contribute your views toward the first ever Glasgow City Dementia Strategy. Please click here to read our brief consultation document.
