

Core brief

Monday 23 May 2016

Introduction

This issue of Core Brief provides information on a Health and Wellbeing survey which has revealed that smoking rates in school pupils has halved in the last three years.

School summit reveals smoking rates have halved in last three years

An event today (Monday 23 May), which brought together 150 secondary school pupils from across Glasgow, to publish the latest Health and Wellbeing Survey for children in S1 to S6 has revealed that smoking rates in school pupils has halved over the last three years.

This positive figure was one of number of encouraging statistics to emerge from this latest survey.

The event at Hampden Stadium was hosted by young people from schools across Glasgow and showcased ideas and activities developed by the pupils in response to the survey carried out by Glasgow City Health and Social care Partnership.

Click here to read the full media release.

Are your contact details up-to-date? Click here to check