Election guidance

The Scottish Government has issued guidance for all NHS Boards on the conduct of business during the UK General Election campaign.

In particular, this provides guidance on dealing with the media and parliamentary candidates.

The guidance comes into immediate effect and all public bodies are reminded that they should take special care during this period that their conduct is above question.

If staff have any questions regarding media queries or requests for visits during the campaign, contact director of communications Ally McLaws at: ally.mclaws@ggc.scot.nhs.uk

Any other queries should be made to head of board administration John Hamilton at: john.hamilton@ggc.scot.nhs.uk
