

Resources to Support Practitioners with NMC Revalidation

NHS Education for Scotland (NES) develop learning tools and resources designed to support the NHS Workforce with continuing professional development (CPD). Highlighted below are a few resources that can assist Nurses and Midwives with the regulatory requirements for NMC Revalidation.

You can click on the screenshots to start exploring the websites.

The Post Registration Career Development Framework

The NMC require practitioners to log the amount of hours spent in practice and to detail the scope of their practice.

Scope of practice incorporates management, education, clinical practice and research.

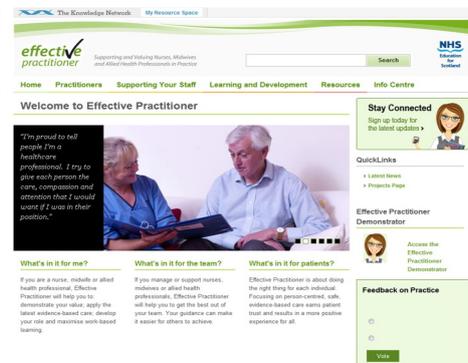

The Post Registration Career Development Framework can help guide practitioners to consider their scope of practice and their professional development.

Effective Practitioner

Effective Practitioner hosts a range of work-based learning activities and guides practitioners to tools that enable assessing, planning and recording of reflective practice activities.

There are also quick links to topic specific resources including, policy and strategy documents as well as professional development tools.

These can enable practitioners to undertake relevant activities that contribute to the CPD hours requirement.

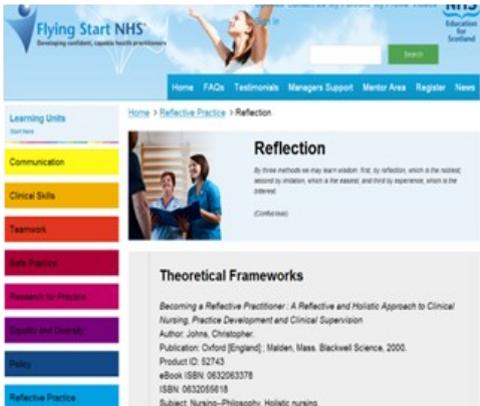

The Knowledge Network

The Knowledge Network provides access to evidence based eLearning resources related to national, professional and policy drivers. The Library search function can aid practitioners to access evidence based literature, national care guidelines and clinical pathways and the Communities section provides the potential to interact with practitioners across NHS Scotland with similar scopes of practices/interests. Shared learning is seen as key to informing and improving the way that nurses and midwives work and enhance a culture of sharing practice.

Resources that Support Practitioners with NMC Revalidation

Flying start

The NMC require reflective accounts and discussion as part of the evidence needed to renew your registration. Flying Start contains a learning unit which focuses on how to develop your reflective practice skills.

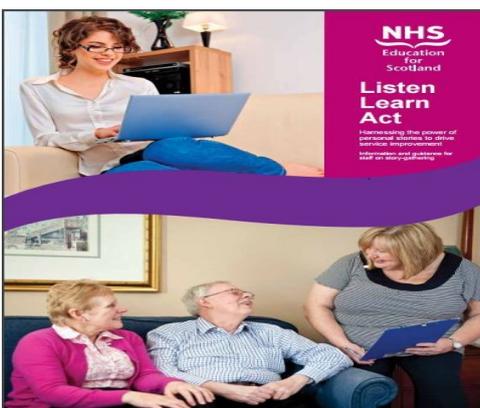

The unit contains information about models of reflection and tips for identifying and exploring opportunities for formal and informal reflection.

Little Things Make a Big Difference

Obtaining and reflecting upon Practice-Related feedback is a component of the NMC Revalidation requirements. Little Things Make a Big Difference provides guidance and resources on Feedback, Comments, Concerns and Complaints and how to use personal stories to drive service improvements.

Listen, Learn, Act

The provision of person-centred care is at the heart of NHS Scotland's Healthcare quality strategy ambitions¹. Person centred care cannot be achieved without listening to the experience of patients and staff, learning from it and, most crucially, acting upon that learning. Patient stories are a way to access practice-related feedback. Listen, Learn, Act is a resource that helps support the development of these stories at a local level.

For further information please contact the NES Nursing & Midwifery Practice Educators: -
 Keith Dow: keith.dow@nes.scot.nhs.uk or 07917 264047
 Bernie McCormick: bernie.mccormick@nes.scot.nhs.uk or 07917 267570

1. Scottish Government (2010). The Healthcare Quality Strategy for NHSScotland. Scottish Government. Edinburgh