Introduction

This issue brings you information on statutory and mandatory training and BME engagement events.

Statutory and mandatory training

All staff are reminded that they must complete the statutory and mandatory training which is identified for all staff when they join the organisation and thereafter every three years during their employment - every two years for Fire Safety training. A web page has been created on HR Connect to support Managers and staff to complete their statutory and mandatory training and this can be accessed by clicking here. A performance dashboard will be launched in February to support local performance management.

Help us promote equality, diversity and human rights in NHSGGC

NHSGGC is committed to promoting dignity and respect at work and to help foster a positive and dignified workplace culture. In NHSGGC we have a diverse workforce including 4% who are Black and Minority Ethnic. We want to ensure that all staff groups have an opportunity to make suggestions on how we can make the workplace as fully inclusive as possible. To this end the Workplace Equality Group are holding 3 engagement events for Black and Minority Ethnic staff to find out:-

- What is your experience of working in NHSGGC as a BME member of staff?
- What would make things better?

Please join us for tea or coffee at one of the following sessions –

- Monday 19th February 12.00-1.00pm
Boardroom, J B Russell House, Gartnavel Royal Hospital
- Tuesday 20th February 12.00-1.00pm
