1. Introduction

NHS Greater Glasgow and Clyde is committed to ensuring the health, safety and Well-being of its employees and ensuring everyone is treated with dignity and respect.

The menopause is a natural process and for many can be positively managed through lifestyle adjustments. However, NHS Greater Glasgow and Clyde recognises that for some the menopause is not always an easy transition. Some employees may need additional considerations to support and improve their experience at work.

41.7% of NHS Greater Glasgow and Clyde's workforce are females over the age of 45. Therefore many employees will be working through the natural age of the peri-menopause period and beyond. Therefore there is a need for clear guidance in this area.

With this in mind, the organisation is committed to supporting employees who are affected in any way by the menopause and to support and inform managers so that employees reporting issues are treated fairly and given appropriate support.

This Policy is inclusive of all gender identities including trans and non binary employees.

Guidance from the Faculty of Occupational Medicine (FOM), the British Menopause Society (BMS) National Institute for Care and Excellence (NICE) and the NHS GG&C Menopause Service has been used to inform this Policy

2. Legislative Drivers

The Health and Safety at work act (1974) requires employers to ensure the health safety and welfare of all workers. Within this, employers are required to perform risk assessments which should include any specific risks to menopausal employees.

The menopause is also an equalities issue. Under the Equality Act (2010), employers have a duty not to discriminate in terms of age, sex and disability. Detrimental treatment related to the menopause could represent direct or indirect sex discrimination on any or all of these protected characteristics.

3. Aims

The aim of this Policy is

3.1 To support employees to remain at work

3.2 To raise awareness of menopause, the related issues and how this can affect employees.

3.3 To break the stigma and taboo surrounding the menopause at work and to promote an environment in which employees feel confident in discussing menopausal issues and ask for support and adjustments, if required.

3.4 To provide guidance and direction on how to support employees who raise menopausal issues not only for the individuals experiencing the menopause but also those who may be affected indirectly which may include managers, colleagues, partners and family members.

3.5 To inform managers of the potential symptoms of menopause, how this can affect employees and what can be done to support individuals including reasonable adjustments.

4. Scope

This Policy applies to all employees of NHS Greater Glasgow and Clyde who work within the Board. It includes permanent and fixed-term employees, members of staff on bank contracts, those working within the Board on behalf of other agencies, those on secondment to the Board, volunteers, and those on work experience or training placements.

5. Definitions

5.1 Menopause – The menopause is a natural part of ageing and refers to the time in life when periods stop and the natural reproductive cycle ends. It usually occurs between the ages of 45 and 55 with the average age being 51.

5.2 premature ovarian insufficiency (premature menopause) – Approximately 1 in 100 affected people will experience menopause before 40 years of age (naturally or as an effect of a medical condition or treatment).

5.3 Peri-menopause – the time leading up to menopause when menopausal symptoms can be experienced. Symptoms can start a few months or even years before periods stop.

5.4 Post-menopause – The time after the last period.

6. Symptoms of Menopause

6.2 Symptoms are associated to a decrease in the body's production of the hormone oestrogen. Other factors such as diet and exercise, lifestyle and medication can also influence the symptoms.

9. Guidance for Managers Discussions with Employees

Regular, informal conversations between manager and employee can enable discussions about issues related to menopause. One of the most valuable things a manager can do is listen and respond sympathetically if issues relating to menopause are reported. These conversations can assist to identify support at work which can make a real difference with how employees cope with menopause. This may enable them to continue working well, productively and to remain at work.

It is important to note that employees experiencing menopausal issues (directly or indirectly) may feel uncomfortable or embarrassed to approach their manager however, if a manager is aware of the symptoms associated with the menopause and how this can affect a person, this can greatly assist in promoting an environment where employees feel more confident to approach their manager and seek support, if required.

If an employee wishes to talk about changes in health including symptoms of menopause it is important to:

- Encourage the employee to discuss any relevant health concerns with their GP practice.
- Maintain confidentiality when handling health information (seek a private room/office and ensure any records are stored in a safe and confidential manner).

- Allow for sufficient time to have the conversation and encourage the employee to be open and honest when discussing any difficulties they may be experiencing.
- Explore with them ways in which they can be supported, if required (see section 10 for common symptoms and adjustments to consider)
- Agree an action plan, record the outcome of the discussion and agree a review timeframe (please see Appendix 1 for a Discussion template).
- Provide details of support and external services available (appendix 2 )
