Quarantine (self-isolation) for NHSScotland staff returning to the UK

Quarantine/self-isolation guidance for NHSScotland staff has been updated. Staff can no longer book foreign travel in good faith on the assumption that a quarantine/self-isolation period will not be required.

Accordingly, NHSScotland employees need to ensure they take account of both the Foreign and Commonwealth Office and Scottish Government advice in regard to essential international travel. It is vital that every effort is made to prevent new COVID variants from entering the UK. NHSScotland staff are therefore advised not to travel to an amber or a red list country.

Staff who do not adhere to this guidance will not be entitled to paid leave if they are required to quarantine or self-isolate. The only exception to this will be when a member of staff has to travel abroad for essential reasons e.g. as a consequence of a family illness or bereavement. In these circumstances, special leave or homeworking (if appropriate) will be granted, as appropriate, during quarantine/self-isolation arrangements.

If staff travel to a country where no quarantine restrictions apply at the time of travel, and the advice changes whilst they are in that country meaning the employee is then required to quarantine on return, the employee should work from home if possible. If this is not possible, this time should be taken as Special Leave.

Pride Celebrations in NHSGGC and Golden Jubilee

Pride takes place throughout the month of June, a wonderful celebration of inclusivity, equality, and visibility of those who identify as lesbian, gay, bisexual, transgender, queer inclusive (LGBTQ+) and our allies. Pride empowers the LGBTQ+ community to come together in celebration, protest, unity and solidarity. Whilst we can't hold big events, Pride is still needed. For some, it's needed more than ever.

The Workforce Equality Group is delighted to support next month's three virtual events from the NHSGGC LGBTQ+ Staff Forum and the NHSGJ LGBT+ Network. They would also like to take the opportunity to welcome the new interim chair of the NHSGGC LGBTQ+ Staff Forum Amanda Law (pictured right).
