

Tier 3 Local Alcohol Recovery Services

Alcohol and Drug Recovery Services (ADRS), formerly known as CATs, will support, advise and assist patients to think about the ways in which alcohol and/or drugs are affecting their life, those around them and those they have responsibility for. When a patient attends an ARDS their needs will be assessed. This involves asking a range of questions and listening to the responses. It is a joint decision as to what treatment and support is needed in the short and long term.
