

What is happening about Immunology day ward, outpatient & blood test appointments?

Do not attend if you are unwell especially with fever, coughs or colds – follow the advice on NHS inform.

Appointments for immunoglobulin infusions are continuing as normal as these help keep you healthy. It is possible that this may have to change – please make sure your local infusion centre has your up to date contact details to help them contact you as this arises.

Outpatient clinics – we are now able to offer video consultations as well as telephone consultations and a small number of face to face on-site consultations when needed. If you are offered a video consultation but would prefer to switch this to a telephone consultation, please ring the Immunology secretary or central booking office (details on your appointment letter).

Infusion reviews – we can now offer video consultations with the immunology nurses where this is feasible and practical. Face to face consultations can be arranged when necessary.

Blood tests – these can now be arranged at the dedicated phlebotomy clinics which now run across several sites across NHS Greater Glasgow & Clyde.

Hospital advice and arrangements are being revised regularly, so this may change. We will try to keep you informed as best we can. Please help us by making sure we have up to date contact details.

Updated 15th July 2021